

The Sixth Annual Meeting of the Continental Dialogue on Non-Native Forest Insects and Diseases

Tuesday and Wednesday,
October 5-6, 2010 at Brandeis University
in Waltham, MA

Registration is now open! Register at: www.continentalforestdialogue.org.

The sixth meeting of the Continental Dialogue on Non-Native Forest Insects and Diseases will feature talks on curtailing pest introductions, various pathways of spread, the issue of firewood movement, citizen detection efforts, and more. As with every meeting of the Dialogue, sessions and panels are interactive with a focus on developing consensus stances for collaborative action.

There will be several field trip options for attendees on the morning of the 5th: 1) a tour of Worcester, MA; 2) a visit to the APHIS Otis Laboratory on Cape Cod; or 3) a tour of the Arnold Arboretum in Boston.

Space on each trip is limited so register early! The meeting begins midday Tuesday and concludes Wednesday afternoon. Exact times and a full draft agenda are available at www.continentalforestdialogue.org.

New this year will be a Tuesday evening poster session and the first ever invasive forest insect or disease costume contest! We are very pleased to add these events to our agenda for the first time in our group's history.
